SECTION I

INTRODUCTION

1. GENERAL. a. Recipes are essential for both experienced and inexperienced cooks. Even after long years of service, a cook cannot remember the exact quantities of every recipe. He needs the stimulation of new recipes if the meals he prepares are to be interesting and not monotonous. Recipes, accurate as to amounts and procedure, are important for good cooking. In this book directions for combining ingredients are given in detail to aid the cook in obtaining desirable results.

b. A cook needs more than recipes. He needs practice, imagination and, above all, a desire to please those who eat the food he prepares. The soldier who develops these qualities and follows the recipes provided for him soon becomes a skillful cook. He quickly learns to judge the consistency of a batter by the way it feels under the spoon. He knows when bread is light by the touch of his fingers. He knows when extra seasoning will make a sauce more enjoyable and when a garnish will make a dish more appetizing.

2. RECIPES. a. The recipes in this manual represent the food habits of American families. They utilize the foods which are most abundant in this country. Each recipe as set up will yield food sufficient for 100 portions of the size designated.

b. The unit of 100 portions was selected because requisitions for food issues are based on amounts for 100 men. It is the responsibility of mess personnel to observe the actual number of men who will eat a certain food. If only 50 out of 100 men like a specific dish, amounts of ingredients for 50 rather than for 100 should be made the basis for requisitions. In this way waste through overpreparation can be avoided.

c. Many messes have more than 100 men assigned to them. However, some soldiers assigned to a mess may be absent for one or more meals. The number of men who will be present for each meal must be determined before supplies are ordered. If 175 men are to be there the amount for 100 is multiplied by $1\frac{3}{4}$ to get the total quantity of food needed. After a short time the cooks will be able to determine the average number of men who will be present for every meal. Each recipe can be increased or decreased accordingly and the amounts required can be written with pencil in the blank column and can be changed from time to time as necessary. (See model recipe.)

d. A large number of recipes in this book are followed by one or more variations. These show only the ingredients or procedures which differ from the basic recipe. In preparing a variation follow the basic recipe making the substitutions as directed.

e. Model recipe.

NO. BAKING POWDER BISCUITS

Yield: 25 pounds mixture
212 biscuits, each
2½ inch diameter

| Ingredients | 100 servings | ... servings |
|------------------------|------------------------------------|--------------|
| Flour, sifted..... | 12 pounds (12 No. 56 dippers)..... | |
| Baking powder..... | 10 ounces (½ mess kit cup)..... | |
| Salt..... | 3 ounces (6 mess kit spoons)..... | |
| Shortening..... | 3 pounds (1½ No. 56 dippers)..... | |
| Milk, evaporated..... | 4¼ — 14½ ounce cans..... | |
| Water (for milk)*..... | 2½ quarts (2½ No. 56 dippers)..... | |

1. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together. Add shortening; stir until mixture resembles coarse crumbs.
2. Mix milk and water. Add to dry ingredients, mixing only enough to combine dry and liquid ingredients.
3. Place dough on floured bread board and knead lightly. Roll ¾ inch thick; cut dough into biscuits with floured biscuit cutter.
4. Place in baking pans. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) about 15 minutes.

*The amount of water will vary according to the type of flour used.

3. MEASUREMENTS. a. Accuracy at all times is essential for success in cooking. Ingredients either must be weighed accurately or measured accurately. It is preferable to weigh ingredients if scales are available; otherwise it is best to measure them in graduated measures and in standard cups and spoons. If graduated measures are not available, No. 56 dippers, mess kit cups, and mess kit spoons can be used. A cook or baker can obtain satisfactory results with Army equipment if he is careful to follow the same procedure each time he prepares the recipe. He can train his eye to judge the line on the utensil that means ¼, ½, or ¾ full when an unmarked measure is used. One cupful of liquid comes approximately to the top of the date figures on a No. 56 dipper; two cupfuls to the top of the letters designating the manufacturer; three cupfuls to the top of the "U. S." letters.

b. Measure sugar, cornstarch, and other dry ingredients without packing or shaking. Pack brown sugar and shortening firmly into the measuring utensil. Sift flour before measuring; place lightly, without packing, in measuring utensil until level full. If ingredients are weighed, flour may be weighed before sifting but must be sifted afterwards before combining with other ingredients.

c. To measure with a spoon, fill spoon to overflowing and level with the straight edge of a knife. To measure a half spoonful, fill the spoon; level and divide it lengthwise with a knife. The Quartermaster tablespoon is slightly larger than the mess kit spoon but for practical purposes may be used as an identical measure.

SECTION XVIII

VEGETABLES

VEGETABLES

27. FRESH VEGETABLES. a. Potatoes, carrots, beets and other vegetables with the edible portion grown underground are prepared for cooking by cleaning and paring before cooking or peeling after cooking. They are most often cooked in boiling salted water. Use $\frac{1}{2}$ ounce (1 mess kit spoon) salt to each gallon of water.

b. Asparagus, cauliflower, greens and other vegetables with the edible portion grown above the ground are usually delicate and need careful handling to prevent breaking and bruising. They are most often cooked in a minimum amount of boiling salted water.

c. Cook vegetables until tender but not soft. The time of cooking depends on the size and age of the vegetable. Vegetables may be served with butter or a sauce to add flavor and variety. For buttered vegetables use 1 pound ($\frac{1}{2}$ No. 56 dipper) butter to 20 to 25 pounds vegetable. Drain immediately after cooking and add the butter while still hot.

28. FROZEN VEGETABLES. a. Time table for cooking.

| Vegetable | Issue for 100 servings (pounds) | Boiling salted water (gallons) | Cooking time (minutes) |
|----------------------|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|------------------------------|
| Asparagus..... | 20 | 2 | 6-9 |
| Broccoli..... | 17½ | to cover | 5-7 |
| Brussel Sprouts..... | 20 | to cover | ½ |
| Cauliflower..... | 17½ | to cover | 3-5 |
| Corn..... | 20 | 1 | ½ |
| Beans, green..... | 20 | 2 | 8-13 |
| Beans, Lima..... | 20 | 2 | 10-13 |
| Peas..... | 20 | 2 | 4-6 |
| Spinach..... | 17½ | 2 | 4-6 |
| Beans, wax..... | 20 | 2 | 8-13 |

b. Directions for cooking. (1) Remove vegetables from carton; cut large frozen blocks into quarters to reduce time required for defrosting and cooking.

(2) All vegetables except spinach and corn on the cob may be cooked without defrosting. Keep spinach at room temperature 4 to 6 hours before cooking. Cook corn on the cob only until heated through. Long cooking will soften the cob, thus making it soggy.

(3) Place vegetables in small amount of boiling water. Stir while thawing to separate the particles.

(4) Allow 20 to 30 minutes for water to again reach boiling point after vegetables are added. Count the cooking time from the moment the water reaches the boiling point after the addition of the vegetables.

(5) Cook until tender; avoid over-cooking.

(6) Drain vegetables if necessary. Add butter, salt and pepper.

29. USES FOR STALE BREAD. a. Toast. Use bread that is at least a day old. Cut slices $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thick. Heat bread quickly until brown for soft toast; slowly for crisp toast. Serve hot.

b. Melba toast. Slice bread very thin. Bake in slow oven (300° F.) about 20 minutes or until brown. Serve unbuttered with soup.

c. Oven toast. Butter slices of bread. Bake in slow oven (300° F.) until brown.

d. Milk toast. Heat milk; add butter and salt. Pour over slices of toast just before serving.

e. Cinnamon toast. Butter toast; sprinkle with mixture of sugar and cinnamon. Heat in slow oven (300° F.) until sugar melts.

f. Croutons. Cut stale bread into cubes. Fry in fat until brown, turning frequently, or fry in deep hot fat. Bread may also be buttered, cut into cubes and baked in a slow oven (300° F.) until brown. Use in soups or on top of creamed dishes.

g. Bread crumbs. Rub slices of soft bread together to break into crumbs. Roll, grind or grate dry bread into crumbs. Use soft crumbs in scalloped potatoes; dry crumbs for covering foods to be fried.

30. APPETIZERS. a. An appetizer is a food served to stimulate the appetite. An appetizer is very light, looks attractive and tempts the eater to want more food. The most commonly served appetizers are relishes such as celery, young onions, olives, pickles and radishes. Raw vegetables such as carrot strips, flowerlets of cauliflower, green pepper rings and watercress may also be used. They must be clean, cold and crisp.

b. Fruit cocktail may be any one fruit or a mixture of fruits. Slices of cantaloupe, watermelon balls, whole strawberries, pineapple wedges, orange sections and grapefruit halves are the most common fruits served. Sweeten fresh fruits; chill before serving. Chill canned fruits thoroughly. The sirup from canned fruits may be combined with lemon juice and water and served as an appetizer in summer.

c. Juices from canned vegetables may be used as appetizers. Add seasonings and chill before serving. The flavor of tomato juice may be varied by adding salt, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce and onion juice.

31. DEHYDRATED FOODS. a. See War Department Technical Manual TM 10-406 for directions on the preparation of dehydrated foods.

b. Powdered eggs. (1) Powdered eggs are prepared by removing the eggs from the shell and drying the eggs by the spray method. By the newer methods of dehydration egg yolks and whites are dried separately and then combined. Reconstituted powdered eggs have approximately the same food value as fresh eggs.

(2) Egg conversion table.

| Fresh Eggs | Powdered whole eggs | | Water Measure No. 56 dippers |
|---------------|---------------------------|---------------|---------------------------------|
| | Measure No. 56 dippers | Weight | |

| 24 dozen..... | 8 | 8 pounds | 8 |

(3) Reconstituting powdered eggs. Stir powdered eggs to remove lumps. Add measured water slowly, stirring until a smooth mixture is obtained. If possible refrigerate reconstituted eggs for several hours. Any remaining lumps can easily be removed by beating the cold eggs. If means of refrigeration are not available, use reconstituted eggs within 10 to 15 minutes after mixing powder with water. In preparing cooked foods powdered eggs may be added to other dry ingredients without first being reconstituted. Combine thoroughly before adding liquids.

c. Powdered milk. (1) Powdered milk is fresh milk dried by the spray or roller process. A solution can easily be made of powdered milk and cold water. Warm water is better for rolled processed milk.

(2) Milk conversion table.

(3) Reconstituting powdered milk. Sprinkle the powdered milk on top of the water; mix vigorously with a wire whisk. Scrape the caked powder from the whisk occasionally. If a mechanical mixer is available, add the powdered milk gradually to the water in the mixing bowl and mix at low speed. Continue mixing until powder is completely dissolved and the chalky flavor is lost. When in complete solution the milk will have the flavor and appearance of fresh milk. Handle reconstituted powdered milk in the same manner as fresh milk. Keep it cold. The flavor is improved by refrigerating for a few hours.

SECTION II

BEVERAGES

i. COFFEE, TEA. a. Rules for making. (1) Measure accurately.

- (2) Make only amount needed.
- (3) Discard used grounds or leaves.
- (4) Keep equipment clean.

IO. 1. COFFEE (kettle method)

Yield: 7 gallons.

| Ingredients | 100 servings | ... servings |
|-------------------------------|-------------------------------------|--------------|
| Coffee, roasted and ground... | 3 pounds (3 No. 56 dippers)..... | |
| Water, freshly drawn..... | 7½ gallons (30 No. 56 dippers)..... | |

- . Place coffee in a 50-pound coffee sack or other cloth bag large enough to permit free circulation of water and expansion of the coffee.*
- . Tie the bag with a cord of sufficient length to fasten to the handle of the container. This facilitates removal of the bag from the hot brew.
- . Pour freshly drawn water into a large kettle; heat to boiling point.
- . Place coffee bag in boiling water; tie cord to handle of kettle. Reduce heat to keep water below the boiling point. Coffee must always be kept below the boiling point.
- . Submerge the bag with a stick or paddle; push up and down to force the water through the grounds.
- . Cover kettle; brew 12 to 15 minutes.
- . Lift bag; drain thoroughly in kettle. Remove bag entirely.
- . Serve coffee at once.

*15 pounds of coffee is the maximum amount that can be placed in one bag if the full extraction of flavor is to be obtained from the coffee. If 100 gallons of coffee are to be made, divide the 40 pounds of coffee evenly into three bags. This expedites extraction and facilitates the removal of the coffee bags after brewing.

NOTE. Remove coffee grounds from bags immediately after they are taken from the brew. Wash bags thoroughly, without soap, in cold water and place in pans of cold water until used again. Keep the bags wet all the time they are not in use. Replace the bag with a new one about once a week.

O. 2. COFFEE (emergency method)

Pour the 7½ gallons (30 No. 56 dippers) freshly drawn water into a large kettle; heat to boiling point. Pour 3 pounds (3 No. 56 dippers) loose coffee into boiling water. Reduce heat; brew 10 to 12 minutes. If necessary, settle grounds by sprinkling a small amount of cold water over coffee (use less than ½ pint [1/3 mess kit cup] cold water to 1 pound coffee). The cold water carries the coffee grounds to the bottom of the kettle. Pour coffee carefully to avoid stirring up the grounds.

NO. 3. COFFEE (urn method)

| Water, freshly drawn | 7½ gallons (30 No. 56 dippers) | |

1. Pour water into jacket of urn until glass gauge registers about $\frac{3}{4}$ full.
2. Heat the water to the boiling point but avoid boiling it.
3. Replenish water whenever gauge shows less than $\frac{1}{2}$ full.
4. Pour coffee into wet urn bag or basket and pour or siphon freshly boiling water evenly over the coffee.
5. Cover and let water drip completely through once.
6. If urn bag is used, pour $\frac{1}{2}$ of the coffee brew back over grounds to give a full extraction and a clear brew. Remove bag or basket as any seepage from grounds impairs the delicacy of flavor and aroma.

NOTE. Coffee grounds will absorb about 2 quarts (2 No. 56 dippers) water. Make coffee just before using as it deteriorates on standing.

NO. 4. COFFEE (dunking method)

Heat water in urn jacket as in steps 1 and 2 in recipe for coffee (urn method). Pour the 7½ gallons (30 No. 56 dippers) freshly boiling water into the urn. Place 3 pounds (3 No. 56 dippers) coffee in cloth bag; tie with a cord long enough to facilitate removal. Drop bag into the hot water in urn; tie cord to handle of urn. Reduce heat to keep water below the boiling point. Push coffee bag up and down to force water through the grounds. Brew 10 to 12 minutes. Remove coffee bag.

NO. 5. ICED COFFEE

Prepare iced coffee as in recipe for hot coffee but make twice as strong. Use twice as much ground coffee to the same amount of water as is used in making hot coffee to compensate for the dilution caused by melting ice. Remove coffee brew from urn or kettle; place in a dispenser with sufficient ice to keep coffee well chilled until served.

NO. 6. TEA (urn method)

Yield: 8 gallons

| Ingredients | 100 servings | ... servings |

2. Tie top of bag with cord long enough to facilitate removal; tie cord to handle of urn.
3. Heat water in tank to boiling point; lower bag containing tea into urn crock.
4. Pour or siphon boiling water over bag containing tea. If siphon is used watch water gauge on boiler to determine quantity of water.

5. Submerge tea bag with a paddle; push up and down repeatedly 5 to 7 minutes to force water through the tea leaves.
6. Lift tea bag; drain thoroughly in kettle. Remove bag entirely.

NOTE. Remove tea leaves from bag immediately after it is taken from the brew. Wash bag thoroughly, without soap, in cold water and place in pan of cold water until used again. Keep tea bag wet all the time it is not in use. Replace the bag with a new one about once a week.

NO. 7. TEA (kettle method)

Use amounts in recipe for urn method. Tie tea in cloth bag large enough to hold at least three times the amount. Tie cord to the container to make it easy to pull bag out of the water. Drop bag into kettle of boiling water; cover tightly. Reduce heat to prevent boiling; brew 5 to 7 minutes. Plunge bag up and down several times; remove bag from brew. If bag is not used and tea is put directly into the boiling water, strain beverage as soon as it is brewed. Otherwise, it will develop an undesirable flavor.

NO. 8. ICED TEA

Prepare iced tea as in recipe for hot tea reducing boiling water to 5 gallons (20 No. 56 dippers). Brew 1 minute longer than for hot tea. Add 5 gallons (20 No. 56 dippers) cold water; chill. If ice is to be added, reduce total water to 8 gallons (32 No. 56 dippers) as melting ice will weaken the tea.

SECTION III

BREADS

BREADS

5. QUICK BREADS. a. Quick breads are flour mixtures which can be baked immediately after mixing. They are leavened by baking powder, soda, or steam. Mix all quick breads as rapidly as possible and with a minimum amount of handling to prevent development of the gluten in the flour.

b. Batters. A batter is a flour mixture that is thin enough to be poured or dropped from a spoon. Batters may be thick or thin depending upon the proportion of flour to liquid. Muffins, fritters, and drop biscuits are made from thick batters. Waffles, griddle cakes, and popovers are made from thin batters.

c. Doughs. A dough is a flour mixture containing a much smaller proportion of liquid than a batter. It contains sufficient flour to enable handling. Baking powder biscuits, rolled cobblers, and shortcakes are made from quick doughs.

7. YEAST BREADS. a. Yeast breads are leavened by the gas released during the growth of yeast plants. Yeast needs moisture, air and warmth. Moisture is supplied by milk or water; air by kneading; warmth by controlling the temperature of the ingredients and the atmosphere where the dough is placed to rise. The most satisfactory temperature is about 80° F.

b. Yeast doughs are kneaded to develop gluten in the flour. This makes the dough elastic and enables it to hold the gasses which give the bread a satisfactory texture.

CAKES AND COOKIES

SECTION IV

CAKES AND COOKIES

8. "BUTTER" CAKES. a. There is an unlimited variety of "butter" cakes, but the same basic ingredients and mixing procedures are used for all of them. The texture and tenderness of the cake depends on the shortening. Use a type of shortening that softens easily and mixes well with other ingredients.

b. Mixing. The quality of a cake is dependent upon the method of handling and combining ingredients. Sift the flour to ensure accurate measurement and reduce the amount of mixing required to make a smooth batter. The flour and liquid are added to the shortening and sugar mixture alternately, beginning and ending with flour. The addition of liquid first tends to separate the fat from the other ingredients while the flour binds the ingredients together. Unnecessary beating after the liquid and flour are added will toughen the cake by developing the elasticity of the gluten (the toughening property of the flour).

c. Temperature control. Temperature control is important. Have sugar and shortening at room temperature (70° to 73° F.) to enable easier mixing. Eggs and milk may be colder (about 65° F.) but not at refrigerator temperature. If the batter is too warm, the fat becomes oily; if too cold, the fat hardens and gives the batter a curdled appearance. Under both conditions the cakes will have poor grain and small volume.

d. Baking. Bake cakes at temperatures recommended in the recipes. Too rapid baking gives cakes a hard crust and poor volume; slow baking causes coarse grain and may give cakes a gummy or sticky quality. Overbaking will make dry cakes with hard crusts. When the cake shrinks and pulls away from the sides of the pan it is done. Test the doneness of the cake by inserting a toothpick; if it comes out clean the cake has been cooked sufficiently. The cake is done if it springs back when pressed with the finger.

e. Care of cakes after baking. Remove cakes from pans while warm. If cakes remain in pans until cold, rust resulting from water condensing on the pan may discolor the cake and affect the flavor. When cool, replace cakes in pans lined with paper and cover tightly to prevent evaporation of moisture when exposed to air. Frost cakes only when cold to prevent frosting from softening and running off the cake. Frosting seals the top surface and prevents loss of moisture.

f. Characteristics. A well mixed and baked cake has a soft golden brown crust which is only slightly rounded. It has a fine, uniform sized grain, is moist and feels light when lifted. The cake holds its shape when cut.

9. SPONGE CAKES. a. Angel food, jelly roll, and sponge cakes are made without shortening. They are leavened by air incorporated into beaten eggs. The quality of this type of cake is dependent upon the number of eggs used and the degree to which they are beaten. The tenderness of the cake depends upon the amount of air incorporated into the mixture as there is no fat added to separate the particles of flour and prevent them from forming a tough product.

b. Angel food cake. If possible use thin egg whites as they will produce a larger cake than the thicker ones. Have eggs at room temperature. They will yield a larger volume than when at refrigerator temperature. Beat whites until just stiff but not dry. Stiffly beaten egg whites will cause a tough cake with poor volume and grain. Cream of tartar is added to the cake to prevent shrinkage during baking and to bleach the cake, thus making it very white.

(1) Mixing. Sift flour several times until fluffy, thereby decreasing the amount of mixing necessary to distribute it. Mix flour with eggs by folding the flour into the eggs rather than by stirring or beating. The flour or sugar prevents the air cells from being broken. Great care must be taken in folding in the flour, otherwise the air cells will be broken and the air lost. After the last amount of flour has been added, mix only until flour disappears.

(2) Baking. Bake angel food cakes in ungreased pans. If pan is not greased, the cake will stick to the pan until cold, thus aiding the cake to support its weight. The cake is done when it is brown and pulls away from the sides of the pan. Avoid overbaking as this toughens the cake. After baking invert pans on racks or rest the edges on props to permit circulation of air around the cake. Prevent the surface of the cake from resting on the rack or props. Remove from pans when cool.

c. Sponge cakes. A true sponge cake differs from an angel food in that the yolks of the eggs are used. Beat the egg yolks until they are light, thick, and fluffy. Overbeating at this stage is impossible. Underbeating produces a compact and soggy cake. Follow the same methods and precautions for sponge cakes as for angel food cakes.

d. Jelly roll. Heat eggs and sugar to 100° F. to hasten the beating and insure a firmer cell structure. This makes a lighter roll as less of the foamy mass will break down when the flour is added. If cake is used for cream roll, turn upside down on cloth covered with sugar, loosen paper, and cover with pan; cool. Thus, the moisture is retained in the cake, making it less likely to crack when rolled.

10. COOKIES. Cookies are easy to mix but need constant attention while baking. Drop cookies can be made from cake dough if more flour or less liquid is added so as to make a stiff batter. A soft cookie dough suitable for rolling can be made from cake dough if still further increase in flour or decrease in liquid is made. Use sheet pans smaller than the oven rack for baking cookies to permit the hot air to circulate around the cookies. Fill pans and stack criss-cross; bake as many as the ovens will hold at one time. Use knife or spatula to remove cookies from pans. Place cookies in single layers on racks or clean paper to cool. Avoid stacking or piling cookies while cooling.

SECTION VIII

b. FISH COOKERY. a. Fish are of two general types; fat and lean. Fat fish are best for baking and broiling and lean fish for steaming, simmering, and for powder. Either fat or lean fish may be fried. The retention of the shape of a fish is a problem in cooking. The muscle fibers separate during cooking due to the small amount of connecting tissue. For this reason baking and broiling give the best results.

b. Sprinkle both sides of the raw fish with salt 5 to 10 minutes before cooking. The packaged fillets and steaks are usually lightly salted before packing. Cook at low temperature until well done but not tough and dry. The time required for cooking depends upon the depth of the fish in the pan. Press the fish lightly with a fork. If it separates into flakes, it is cooked sufficiently.

SECTION IX

FRITTERS AND CROQUETTES

15. DEEP FAT FRYING. a. It is customary to use lard, hydrogenated fat, or oil for deep fat frying; however, carefully rendered beef fat will give satisfactory results. Rendered lamb fat can be used in combination with lard, lard substitute or beef fat.

b. Melt fat in fryer or deep kettle, using enough to fill the kettle to within 3 inches of the rim. If the kettle is too full the fat will bubble over when the food is added. Drain moist foods well before frying as the moisture forms steam when in contact with hot fat. The steam may cause the fat to boil over and catch fire. Set thermostat on the fryer or test fat with a thermometer or by frying a cube of stale bread. A 1-inch cube of bread will become brown as follows:

| Temperature | Time |
|--------------------|-------------|
| 350° F. | 1½ minutes |
| 360° F. | 1 minute |
| 370° F. | 40 seconds |

Food will become grease soaked if the temperature is too low. Heat fat to required temperature before each addition of food. Cook a small amount of food at one time, otherwise the fat will be cooled. Flavors and odors left in fat after frying strong foods may be removed by frying several slices of potatoes. The potatoes will absorb the flavors and odors.

c. Foods most often cooked in deep fat are breaded meats, fish, fritters, croquettes, potatoes, and doughnuts. The recipes for fritters and croquettes are found in this section.

SECTION X

FRUIT

16. FRESH FRUITS. a. Preparation. Wash all fresh fruits thoroughly to remove any insect sprays which might be present. If possible pare fresh fruits immediately before using. When pared and left in contact with the air, some fresh fruits become discolored. Discoloration may be partially prevented by covering the fruit with a thin sirup or lemon juice until ready for use.

b. Uses for fresh fruits. (1) Apples. Serve raw and whole for breakfast; sliced or cubed in salads or fruit cocktail; baked, stewed, or as applesauce for breakfast or dessert. Leave skin on raw apples if it is tender.

(2) Bananas. Serve whole for breakfast; sliced for breakfast, dessert, salads, or fruit cocktail. Peel and slice bananas as short a time as possible before using to prevent discoloration.

(3) Berries. Wash and drain; handle carefully to avoid crushing. Serve raw for breakfast or dessert; cooked in shortcake, cobblers, or pies.

(4) Dates. Wash and seed. Serve on cereals or in cakes, cookies, or puddings.

(5) Grapes. Wash. Serve raw in bunches; if firm, slice, seed, and serve in salads or fruit cocktail.

(6) Grapefruit. Cut into halves crosswise; cut around rind to loosen pulp; remove seeds and loosen pulp from each section with a knife. Serve raw for breakfast or dessert; baked or broiled with sugar at low temperature for dessert. Pare thickly and remove each section of pulp by cutting carefully between membranes for salads.

(7) Lemons. Cut into halves; squeeze juice for use in fruit drinks, pies, or puddings. Slice or cut into eights lengthwise for use in tea.

(8) Melons. Cut into halves or quarters; remove seeds. Serve for breakfast or dessert. Slice and pare or remove pulp with a teaspoon and shape into balls for salads or fruit cocktail.

(9) Oranges. Serve whole, cut into halves, or pared, sliced, and segmented for breakfast, dessert, salads, or fruit cocktail. Cut into halves; squeeze juice for use in fruit drinks or desserts.

(10) Peaches. Serve raw and whole or peeled, stoned, and sliced for breakfast or dessert; cooked in shortcake, cobblers, or pies. Peel and slice peaches as short a time as possible before using to prevent discoloration.

(11) Pears. Serve raw and whole or pared, cored, and sliced for breakfast or dessert; stewed with sugar, cinnamon, cloves, or lemon.

SECTION XIII

20. PASTRY. a. Ingredients. The ingredients of pastry are flour, shortening, salt, and water. Successful pastry can be made with hard wheat flour if the correct proportion of fat to flour is used and the ingredients are carefully combined. Soft wheat flour sometimes produces a crust that is too tender and crumbly to handle easily. For best results use a solid fat. Lard or hydrogenated vegetable fat makes tender pastry. Butter produces a flaky pastry. A combination of the two is often used. Use ice cold water and keep the mixture.

b. Mixing. Handle pastry as lightly as possible. In combining the shortening and flour, mix only enough to distribute the ingredients evenly. Overmixing must be avoided; otherwise the gluten will become too well-developed. The development of the gluten is prevented by coating each particle of fat with flour. If overmixed, the flour becomes coated with fat, thus preventing absorption of sufficient water to form a dough. Add only enough water to the flour mixture to make the dough hold together. If the water is added all at one time, excessive mixing will be required to incorporate it into the flour. As the flour becomes moist enough to form lumps, push it aside and dampen other particles of flour. When the entire mixture sticks together, enough water has been added. Avoid the use of excess water as unnecessary flour will be required to prepare the dough for rolling, thereby increasing the possibility of a tough pie crust.

c. Characteristics. Pastry can be made into one crust pies, two crust pies, or baked as pie shells. A good pastry when baked has a blistery, pebbly surface and is tender when cut. It is easily cut with a fork but not crumbly. The entire crust is light brown in color.

21. FILLINGS. Pies may be filled with fruit, custard, or cream fillings. Fruit fillings are thickened with a mixture of water and cornstarch or flour. The amount of cornstarch or flour varies according to the acidity and juiciness of the fruit and the amount of sugar. The more acid the fruit, the more starch is needed as the acid may liquify the starch during cooking. More starch is required if a large amount of juice and sugar are used. Chill filling before placing in pie shells. Chilling helps to preserve the natural color of the fruit. If the filling is cold when pies are placed in the oven, the crust will have time to cook before the filling reaches the boiling point. Both custard and cream pie fillings contain milk and eggs—two protein foods that are very perishable. Because of the danger of spoilage, custard and cream pies are unsatisfactory in hot weather.

NO. 393. PIE CRUST (two crust)

Yield: Crust for eighteen 9-inch pies.

| Ingredients | 100 servings | ... servings |
|--------------------|------------------------------------|--------------|
| Flour, sifted..... | 7½ pounds (7½ No. 56 dippers)..... | |
| Salt..... | 4 ounces (8 mess kit spoons)..... | |
| Shortening..... | 4½ pounds (2¼ No. 56 dippers)..... | |
| Water (variable)* | 1½ quarts (1½ No. 56 dippers)..... | |

1. Combine flour, salt, and shortening by cutting with a knife or rubbing between the fingers until shortening is in particles about the size of dried peas.
2. Add water to flour, sprinkling a small amount at a time over the mixture mix lightly with a fork until all particles are moistened and in small lumps. Place portions that stick together to one side of the bowl before adding more water.
3. Mix ingredients as little as possible to form a stiff dough (if dough is undermixed, the finished crust will have raw spots; if overmixed, the crust will be tough).
4. Place dough on floured board or table top. Divide into as many portions as there are pies to be made. Cut each portion into two pieces, each about 3 inches in diameter. Use one piece for bottom crust and the other for the top.
5. Work with one piece of dough at a time; keep remainder in refrigerator. Sprinkle flour on dough to be used for bottom crust. Roll dough, with floured rolling pin, into circular shape, 3/16 inch thick and slightly larger than pie pan. Use light, even strokes, rolling from center of dough out in every direction.
6. Roll dough onto rolling pin and unroll onto pie pan; press out all air between pan and dough.
7. Dampen outer rim of bottom crust with water to help seal top and bottom crusts together.
8. Roll out top crust in same way as bottom crust. Pierce dough with a fork in several places, making an attractive pattern, to allow steam to escape during baking.
9. Roll crust onto rolling pin and unroll onto filled lower crust.
10. Remove excess dough by pressing hands against rim of pie pan. Press the two layers of dough together and crimp with a fork or crimp between thumb and forefinger. This seals the two crusts together and helps to keep juicy pies from running over. Reserve excess dough for bottom crust of next pie. (Always use fresh dough for top crusts.)
11. Bake pies in hot oven (425° to 450° F.) 40 to 45 minutes. Remove from oven when filling reaches boiling point and crust is golden brown.

*The amount of water needed will vary according to the strength of the flour and the amount of fat used.

SECTION XIV

SALADS

SALADS

22. INGREDIENTS. a. A salad is any combination of raw or cooked foods served cold and crisp with a salad dressing and greens such as lettuce, watercress, chicory, or endive. Use as much of the greens as possible, discarding only those leaves which are wilted or discolored. Coarse outside leaves may be shredded for use in the salad or put aside for use in soups or stews.

b. Wash greens in a large amount of water. Remove the leaves from the water rather than pour the water from the leaves. Drain and refrigerate as soon as washed. The longer greens are allowed to remain at room temperature, the more vitamins will be lost. If head lettuce is used, remove the core and allow the water to run through the head. The water forces the leaves apart without injury to the leaves. Wilted greens can be more readily revived by adding a half cup of vinegar to each gallon of water and allowing the greens to remain in the mixture several hours until refreshed.

c. Cut ingredients into small pieces, but not so small as to lose their identity. Fruits and vegetables that are easily cut may be left in large pieces. Use cooked foods that are tender but firm enough to hold their shape. Drain ingredients well before placing in mixing bowl. Mix just before serving and mix only enough to combine ingredients. Serve salad dressing separately.

23. SALAD DRESSINGS. a. There are three basic types of salad dressings; cooked, French, and mayonnaise. The cooked is a sauce which is thickened with starch, flour, or eggs. The French is a mixture of oil, acid, and seasonings which must be beaten just before using as the oil separates from the remainder of the ingredients if allowed to stand. Mayonnaise is a mixture of fat and oil held together by raw eggs. The oil will not separate from other ingredients in mayonnaise if care is taken to beat the mixture well and add the oil only in small amounts at the beginning. After an emulsion of the fat and oil is formed, the oil may be added in larger amounts.

SECTION XV

SANDWICHES

24. PREPARATION OF SANDWICHES. a. Suggestions for making sandwiches.

- (1) Allow butter to stand in a warm place until soft.
- (2) Cut bread into slices $\frac{3}{8}$ inches or less in thickness.
- (3) Spread butter evenly over all of one side of a slice of bread. If a moist sandwich filling is used, spread both slices of bread with butter to prevent the bread from becoming soggy.
- (4) Make sandwich fillings moist but not wet enough to drip when they are eaten; add seasonings carefully.
- (5) Cover entire slice of bread with filling. Lettuce leaves or tender cabbage leaves may be added if sandwiches are to be served immediately.
- (6) Color contrasts may be obtained by placing the filling between a slice of white and a slice of dark bread. Vary the kind of bread by using nut, raisin, whole wheat, rye or white bread.
- (7) Wrap sandwiches in wax paper immediately after making. (Commercial bread wrappers may be used.)
- (8) Make sandwiches as short a time in advance as possible. If made in advance, store in refrigerator after wrapping.
- (9) Avoid the use of ground meat and egg fillings in hot weather.

SAUCES

25. PREPARATION OF SAUCES. a. The purpose of a sauce is to add flavor, moisture and nutritive value to foods. Use milk or the juice drained from cooked vegetables or fruits as the liquid in sauces. If possible prepare cream sauces in a double boiler as there is less danger of scorching. If a sauce has been thickened with eggs, avoid boiling. Serve sauces immediately after preparation if possible, otherwise cover to avoid the formation of a crust on the surface.
